The Society for Psychical Research The SPR was the first organisation established to examine allegedly paranormal phenomena using scientific principles. Our aim is to learn more about events and abilities commonly described as 'psychic' or 'paranormal' by supporting research, sharing information and encouraging debate. The SPR was established in 1882 and is a Registered Charity.

Membership

The SPR welcomes members of the public, as well as students and researchers in all disciplines, to join. Membership does not imply acceptance of any particular opinion concerning the nature or reality of the phenomena examined, and the Society holds no corporate views. The minimum age for joining is 16, with reduced subscriptions for students, couples and senior citizens. To renew or apply for membership please visit the website at www.spr.ac.uk, telephone the Secretary, Peter Johnson, on 020 7937 8984, or email secretary@spr.ac.uk.

Moving Forward: Preserving the Historical Collections of Parapsychology 2018

From historical re-evaluations and current experiments, this issue of the Paranormal Review brings a wide range of psychical research topics to your attention. The Society's President, Prof. John Poynton, continues his philosopher-president series with a re-examination of Hans Driesch. Dr Peter Hewitt of the Museum of Witchcraft and Magic returns with another fascinating object from the Museum's collection. Brandon Hodge continues his search for missing Spiritualist devices as he scours the present for traces of the past.

The Psi Society column makes a return this issue and I have re-branded an item that has appeared before, Spontaneous Activity. Last year, I was delighted to be accepted onto the Spontaneous Cases Committee and this occasional column aims to publish some of the reports received as a matter of public record. It was one of the complaints against the Society during the First World War, for example, that it did not do enough to document people's experiences, especially at a time when so many were reported, and this column, in its own small way, aims to redress the current turn to the laboratory. However, that attempt is entirely dependent on readers sending in their own accounts. As always, the email address is paranormalreview@spr.ac.uk. Anonymity can be requested, so please do not be shy.

I am also delighted to welcome Ashley Knibb to the magazine as our new Events Reporter. He begins with an account of the last Study Day, Psi in Nature, and I look forward to reading more about the Society's many fantastic lectures and events from him.

In the next issue, a new columnist will be joining us – you will have to wait to find out more. I will also be launching the 2018 Paranormal Review Photography Competition. Those of you who would like to jump the gun and send in their images (see the requirements given for 2017) are most welcome to do so.  $\Psi$
